

MONSTER NUTRITION!

Reproducible Menu and Newsletter Messages

Good nutrition and safe Internet sites are two things near and dear to us all, but not exactly easy ideas to “deliver” to kids. It just got easier and interactive, to boot! The Monster Nutrition game was recently added to www.nutritionexplorations.org, the Web site you’ve come to know and trust for good nutrition information.

The game is simple – kids interact with an absolutely adorable monster, while answering nutrition questions. The game is so much fun that kids will be encouraged to keep trying until they get perfect scores! And all the while they’ll be learning!

Tell students and parents about the game with these catchy messages. Just photocopy, cut and paste and add them to your menus and newsletters.

For Parents

Monstrous Family Fun!

Meet an adorable, new, online monster that can be found at www.nutritionexplorations.org, a safe Web site for nutrition advice and monster fun.

Your kids play the Monster Nutrition game while learning valuable information about healthy eating. There’s also a parent section on the site! Check it out today! Don’t have Internet access at home? Then visit your public library to check out the site!

www.nutritionexplorations.org

For Kids

Monster Fun!

Want to MIX with this guy?
Mix up some good nutrition fun that is!

Check out the Monster Game at www.nutritionexplorations.org, today!

April/May/June 2003